Dear EMX,

I am writing to express interest in the open Sr. Full Stack Engineer position. I believe that my past professional experience in building various large web applications would make me an exemplary member of your team.

During my time at CivicScape, I not only completed all of the duties of a Senior Engineer, but was also the lead architect of the front-end, back-end, and security of the website. Because of the versatility of this position, I developed an ability to quickly learn complex technologies whenever needed as well as take on as many roles as are to support the everyday operations of my team. I know that these skills will be a valuable asset to your team.

On top of this, I spent time at Fulton Works where I learned the importance of working closely with clients to create an exemplary product. I constantly corresponded with various company officials to ensure that the the web applications that I produced were exactly as specified. This allowed me the chance to build interpersonal skills that I not only use when interfacing with clients, but also when working with my coworkers.

Thank you for your consideration,
Cole Knowlden
